HERE'S COMFORT FOR WOMEN

One as Beautiful as Another, Though Men May Not Accept That Doctrine.

Women with regular features, peaches-and-cream complexion, melting eyes and swanlike necks needn't plume themselves on their beauty any longer. They are no more beautiful than the woman with a squint and a double chin. M. Rodin, the sculptor, says so. At least, he says that every human is beautiful, one as much so as another. Nature is never, under any circumstances, ugly.

This is really very comforting, but it will be a trifle hard on the beauty doctor when women see the light as M. Rodin has, for if pimples and cross eyes are as lovely as smooth skins and straight eyes naturally his or her occupation will be gone. But think of the saving in money to husbands! Think of the heartburnings that will cease and leave sweet peace in their place when the woman who weighs 300 pounds can proudly bedeck herself and go forth, knowing that she is every whit as charming as the woman with a 22-inch waist!

The only trouble will be in getting the men to accept this doctrine. Men have a ridiculous predilection for cherry lips and a stagelike carriage. All literature proves this, from Homer to the records of the last divorce suit. The masculine mind will have to be changed considerably before a man will die for a woman with pale eyes and a number 7 foot as ardently and joyously as for the other kind.

WORRY SOMETIMES KILLS

This Alone Many Scientists Now Set Down as the Cause of Some Fatal Ailments.

Modern science has brought to light nothing more curiously interesting than that worry will kill. More remarkable still, it has been able to determine from recent discoveries just how worry does kill.

It is believed by many scientists who have followed carefully the growth of the science of brain diseases that scores of the deaths set down to other causes are due to worry and that alone. The theory is a simple one, so simple that any one can readily understand it.

Briefly put, it amounts to this: Worry injures beyond repair certain cells of the brain, and the brain being the nutritive center of the body the other organs become gradually injured, and when some disease of these organs or a combination of them arises death finally ensues.

PRIMITIVE AFRICAN TELEPHONE.

Writing from German Africa, a tourist says: "We found here in the dense forest, among people who know nothing of modern scientific discoveries, a good and practical wireless telephone. The natives have for the purposes of ceremony, peaceful and warlike, drums of various dimensions made of wood, and these, when beaten, emit sounds of about an octave in range. Aside from the ceremonies the drums are used also as a means of communication. We had a proof of it one day. Our caravan was ready to start when our head servant stopped suddenly in his work, listened intently, and then gave unmistakable signs of pleasure. We learned later that the indistinct sounds conveyed to him the news that a boy had been born to his brother in a neighboring village."

THE "REAL YOU" IN WOMAN.

Simplicity of manner is the crowning touch of a woman—the real you. The rest is but the outer shell, a matter of training the work, as with simplicity of dress and house decoration of a clever milliner or decorator.

Do not pose, do not be affected, and above all, do not boast. You may not realize it, but in meeting strangers the simple, easy, sincere manner makes a much better impression with the right people than airs, much manner, or great assumption of place and power.—Home Notes.

A FRIEND.

"Are you a friend of hers?"
"Yes, indeed. Whenever there's a man she's particularly anxious to win I'm the one she invites him to meet."

ONE, AT LEAST.

Luther Babcock, the plant wizard, showed last month to the students of Stanford University an apple that was sweet on one side and sour on the other.

"This apple shows us," Mr. Babcock said, "how different treatments will have different effects. It shows how environment causes the most radical changes."

He smiled.
"As in apples, so in men," he said. "There used to live in Santa Rosa a good, kind man, but unfortunately, he married a shrewish wife, and the woman changed his nature."

"One morning after his wife had called him a good-for-nothing loafer and snatched his breakfast away, he started off, hungry and sore, for work."

"A sour-looking woman entered the car he was on. She got into a violent dispute with the conductor over her change. Finally, red with rage, she looked about her and said:

"Is there a gentleman in this car who will stand by and see a lady insulted?"

"The hungry man whose nature had been spoiled, rose eagerly.

"Yes, madam," he said, "I will."

A SHAMELESS CONFESSION.

Goodman—Did you ever learn to carve a turkey?

Selfish—Never! I could never see the wisdom of putting yourself in a position when you must offer everybody his choice and content yourself with whatever happens to be left.

KEEPS TABS ON THE BOOKS.

A certain lady who has a good library, and is always buying books and music, is very generous in lending both to her friends. Naturally she has found that people are often more ready to borrow than to return, so, in order to be able to lend without loss, she has devised a nice little plan.

In a certain album each borrower writes his or her name opposite the title of the book and the date on which the book is borrowed. On returning it, the borrower is expected to comment on the book, and to initial it.

This album is naturally quite interesting, and as it is always to be found, it is often turned over by visitors, who soon see who is not prompt in returning books lent. The result is that the books are always returned, and yet there are no irritating reminders from their owner, whose album is always kindly regarded.

HISS'S MANY MEANINGS.

"The hiss," said an actor, "does not only mean disgust and reprobation. In Japan, for instance, it means delight. A Japanese, in greeting you, hisses."

"In West Africa the hiss denotes astonishment. There I would hiss if you should pay me back that loan I made you last."

"In the new Hebrides they hiss before anything beautiful. Do you see the large turkey in front of that shop? Well, a New Hebridean, beholding it, would hiss."

"The Basutos hiss in sign of cordial agreement. When a candidate for office scores a point a hiss from the Basuto audience is his reward."

"Among the Kabyles the hiss denotes satisfaction and content. At the end of the dinner that I propose to eat I would, were I a Kabye, lean back in my chair, loosen my waistcoat, and hiss loud and long."

A VAGUE RECOLLECTION.

"Of course," said the deep thinker, "you've read of Apollo in the mythology of the ancient Romans."

"Sure you ain't gettin' names confused?" interrupted Dumley.

"What? Certainly not. Apollo was the sun god, who—"

"Well, I always thought he came from Belvedere, N. J."
